

TIPS FOR SAFELY SOCIALIZING ONLINE TO SHARE WITH A CHILD YOU KNOW OR CARE ABOUT:

1. Think about how different sites work before deciding to join one. Some sites will allow only a defined community of users to access posted content; others allow anyone and everyone to view postings.
2. Think about keeping some control over the information you post. Consider restricting access to your page to a select group of people, for example, your friends from school, your club, your team, your community groups, or your family.
3. Keep your information to yourself.
4. Don't post your full name, Social Security Number, address, phone number, or bank and credit card account numbers – and don't post other people's information, either.
5. Be cautious about posting information that could be used to identify you or locate you offline. This could include the name of your school, sports team, clubs, and where you work or hang out.
6. Make sure your screen name doesn't say too much about you. Don't use your name, your age, or your hometown. Even if you think your screen name makes you anonymous, it doesn't take a genius to combine clues to figure out who you are and where you can be found.
7. Post only information that you are comfortable with others seeing – and knowing – about you. Many people can see your page, including your parents, your teachers, the police, the college you might want to apply to next year, or the job you might want to apply for in five years.
8. Remember that once you post information online, you can't take it back. Even if you delete the information from a site, older versions exist on other people's computers. Many social networking sites such as Facebook have indicated that they "own" all the information you post and will archive it, perhaps for later use.
9. Consider not posting your photo. It can be altered and broadcast in ways you may not be happy about. If you do post one, ask yourself whether it's one your mom would display in the living room.
10. Flirting with strangers online could have serious consequences. Because some people lie about who they really are, you never really know who you're dealing with.
11. Be wary if a new online friend wants to meet you in person. Before you decide to meet someone, do your research: Ask whether any of your friends know the person, and see what background you can dig up through online search engines. If you decide to meet them, be smart about it: Meet in a public place, during the day, with friends you trust. Tell an adult or a responsible sibling where you're going and when you expect to be back.
12. Trust your gut if you have suspicions. If you feel threatened by someone or uncomfortable because of something online, tell an adult you trust and report it to the police and the social networking site. You could end up preventing someone else from becoming a victim.

Resource & more information: www.onguardonline.gov (The Federal Trade Commission)

A SERVICE THAT PUTS THE EXPERTS ON YOUR SIDE: IDENTITY THEFT SHIELD for THE FAMILY

The identity theft shield provides: credit reports, credit score, continuous credit monitoring and identity restoration

For more information on your State employee Work/Life discount program contact:

Cheryl Garcia 303-232-1736 cbgarcia@prepaidlegal.com

www.prepaidlegal.com/info/stateofcolorado

Login: denver80203 Password: 80051co

$26.90 per month, $10 enrollment fee is waived

